-- "We support innovations that improve jobs, but we oppose automation when it only destroys jobs," Geoconda Argüello-Kline, secretary-treasurer for the Culinary Union said in a statement. "Our industry must innovate without losing the human touch. That's why employers should work with us to stay strong, fair, and competitive." "I voted yes to go on strike to ensure my job isn't outsourced to a robot," said Chad Neanover, a prep cook at the Margaritaville, said. "We know..."

Primary Election Day is Tuesday, June 12th. It's important to exercise our right to vote so we can have politicians who support our Union and protect workers at local, state, and federal levels of government. Candidates like Steven Horsford for Congress and Tick Segerblom for County Commission District E support our contract fight, standard of living and healthcare. Candidates like Yvanna Cancela for Senate District 10 and Robert Langford for District Attorney will stand with and fight for...
